

ARE YOU A RASCAL*?

Take the Official Rascal Test

Are you smaller than most adults?

Are you unusually clever for your size?

Do you like popcorn?

Have you ever eaten popcorn for breakfast?

Do you sometimes make mischief?

Do you even know what mischief is?

Do you sometimes get in trouble?

If you answered “no,” are you sure?

Even if you sometimes get in trouble, do you usually try to be good?

In the end, do you want everybody to be happy?

Extra credit: Do you wish all tests were this easy?

If you answered YES to six or more questions, YOU are our kind of rascal. Congratulations! You might want to apply for a job in Sir Sidney’s Circus. Sir Sidney loves rascals almost as much as we do. (Click here for more information.)

*The word “rascal” is sometimes used to describe a person who is dishonest or unscrupulous. We hope you’re not that kind of rascal. But the word “rascal” can also be used to describe someone who is playful and mischievous. That’s our kind of rascal! The Three-Ring Rascals make their living by playing, singing, eating popcorn, and causing just the teeniest, tiniest bit of trouble . . . but it always ends up OK.
